The proposed 1,540 acre "sanitary landfill" in the Altamont Hills outlined above will serve the county for at least 60 years.

Hearing set Jan. 27

Big hill dump eyed

The Altamont Hills, once reverberating to the hard rock of the Rolling Stones, will become the bedrock of the county's garbage under a proposal by the Oakland Scavenger Company to use 1,540 acres north of I-580 as a "sanitary landfill."

Ironically, the garbage dump will not be used by any of the valley's three communities, according to a draft environmental impact report released last week.

The Alameda County Zoning Administrator has scheduled a Jan. 27 public hearing on the draft EIR. Comments on the rerport will be received until Feb. 27.

The grass covered canyons, currently used for grazing and barley crops, will hold an estimated 110 million cubic yards or 65 million tons of landfill and offer the county a minimum 60 year dump site.

Oakland Scavenger plans to assemble garbage at a San Leandro transfer station and truck it 33 miles to the site. The garbage will come from all metropolitan, west county communities except Berkeley and Fremont-Newark-Union City.

The firm collects garbage in both Dublin and Livermore but by prior contract drops it at Vasco Road site. Pleasanton's refuse is collected by the Pleasanton Garbage Service and also is taken to the Vasco Road area.

Oakland Scavenger's proposed site is two miles north of I-580 and one mile southwest of the Bethany Reservoir.

Trucks will carry the garbage out I-580, Greenville Road and up the old Altamont Pass Road. Southern Pacific and Western Pacific rail lines run next to the property, but the draft EIR says train transport is less reliable and more expensive.

The land will be filled and resurfaced in five separate sections, none greater than 100 acres. Each days work will be filled over with dirt.

Nearly all surface water drains naturally into the San Joaquin Valley, according to the report. Only one canyon in the northwest section of the area drains into the valley, but it will be resloped to force surface water into San Joaquin County.

Since the project will have an effect in both counties, Regional Water Quality Control Boards from both jurisdictions will have an input into the final plans.

Those boards plus the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board must pass on the project before operations begin.

The report minimizes the possible impact on the underground water table in the high, dry country, but recommends a "comprehensive water quality monitoring program."

Two ranches currently operate on the land, but by limiting the acreage that may be filled at one time, the remainder still will be suitable for agriculture.

Once the canyons are filled and covered, the land will return to agriculture.

Five significant archaeological sites have been unearthed in the area and they must be ranked to avoid damage or destruction until a detailed investigation is completed.

The site dovetails with the county's Solid Waste Management Plan, say the report's authors, because of the continuing need for dump sites.

The citizens' advisory committee on the county-wide plan opposed any "long range commitment" to any specific plan because of the need for energy and resource recovery programs.

The EIR argues that even maximum recovery from garbage still will leave inert, useless materials that must be buried.

If technology quicksteps to the point of recovering natural resources from refuse and turning gases into energy, the Altamont fills could be limited or the site used longer.

The report recommends a combination time and area limit so that the situation is reviewed periodically. While the permit requested is for the life of the landfill, the authors suggest a limited conditional use permit.

Both the garbage/energy problem and the site itself could be reviewed periodically as technology advances on waste. OSC would have to prove the need for continued landfill at each review.

Only garbage from Alameda County should fill the dump. As the permit is requested now, the firm could contract outside the county and pile refuse in the Al

Four Livermore residents killed in East Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Four people from Livermore were killed Saturday morning when their car was crushed between two trucks and burned in a crash blamed on dense fog, the California Highway Patrol said.

The victims were identified as Carl N. Paoni, 53, 820 Wall St.; his wife, Victoria, 53, and his daughter, Michele, 17, both of the same address, and Gretchen Lyle, 17, 827 Wall Street.

Seven other persons were hospitalized and there were numerous minor injuries in the chain-reaction accident involving 19 vehicles on U.S. 50 in east Sacramento, the CHP said.

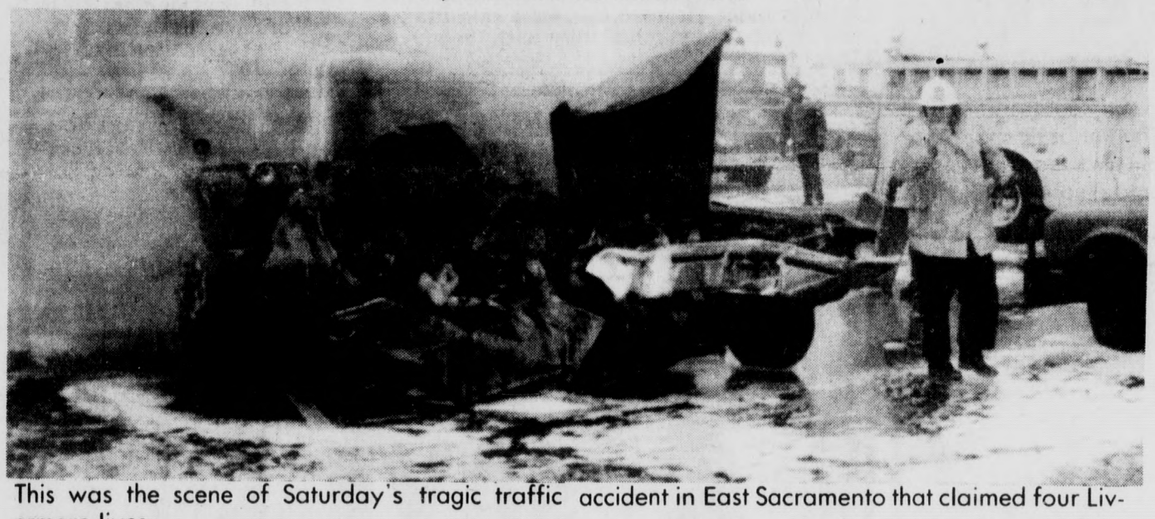
The CHP said the crash started when another car hit a truck. The victims' car hit the pileup from behind, and the other car careened away. The victims' car was then slammed into the truck by a second truck carrying two trailers full of gasoline.

The car, wedged beneath the cab of the tanker, burst into flames, and firemen hurried to keep the blaze from spreading to the gasoline.

"The Lord was with us and the tanker truck didn't rupture," said fire battalion chief Les Heffelfinger.

The CHP said a Greyhound bus carrying vacationers to Lake Tahoe was part of the accident, but only one minor injury was reported on the bus.

The crash closed eastbound lanes of the freeway for two hours.



This was the scene of Saturday's tragic traffic accident in East Sacramento that claimed four Livermore lives.

Pleasanton chamber cites city-involved citizens

PLEASANTON — Two husband and wife teams whose combined community service totals over half a century, were among the honorees at a Community Development Awards gathering Friday evening.

Bob and Freida Steffenauer, Arch and Louise Clausnitzer were the surprised recipients of special citations which saluted each of them for "the love expressed for their fellowman and their community" throughout the last quarter century.

John J. Amaral was also honored on "the 50th year of uninterrupted business operation within Pleasanton." Amaral has also accumulated numerous awards and titles throughout those 50 years in over a score of civic roles.

Judge William H. Gale was honored as an "Outstanding Citizen of 1975" for his many contributions to the community, including terms as Judge of the Pleasanton Judicial Court and Judge of the Livermore-Pleasanton Municipal Court.

Castlewood Country Club was host to some 230 civic and business leaders for the gathering which annually serves as the start of a new year for Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce. The festivity also marked the conclusion of Ben Fernandez's term as chamber president, and the start of Merle Telford's presidency.

In his concluding remarks, Fernandez saluted those who had contributed to "a very busy year" and he singled out John Weisser for the "President's Citation." Weisser headed up the chamber's production of a "Pleasanton Fact Book."

Citations also went to the developers of a number of commercial and professional structures completed in the city during 1975.

Richard Sood was saluted for the new facade at Pleasanton Foods. Frank DeFilippo was honored for his Professional Building on South Main. Ron and Claire Curtola were cited for the Pleasanton Fairways and the Miniature Golf recreation centers. The Tri Valley Pediatrics Medical Building drew commendation for Dr. Edward Schlies.

Also honored were the developers of the Plaza Professional Office Building and the Valley Plaza, both on Valley Avenue at Santa Rita Road, and the new Pleasanton Facility for Tenneco Chemicals Inc. on Sunol Boulevard.

Granada High senior killed

LIVERMORE — Steven Darrah, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Darrah, 575 Lorren Way, Livermore, was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital early Saturday following a single car accident on Vallecitos Road (Highway 84).

According to the investigating California Highway Patrol, Darrah, a student at Granada High School, was northbound on Vallecitos, .2 mile south of Las Positas, about 1:10 a.m., when he lost control of his 1966 vehicle and struck a telephone pole. The lone driver was ejected upon impact, the CHP said.

Young Darrah is survived by his parents; two brothers, Brian C. and William Darrah of Livermore; a sister, Mrs. Holly Caldwell of Campbell; his grandmother, Mrs. Irene Anderson of DesMoines, Iowa, and five cousins in Sacramento.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the chapel of Callaghan's Mortuary, 3833 East Ave., Livermore. Burial will follow in Memory Gardens Cemetery, Livermore.

Planners to weigh quarrying land use

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — The outline of a work plan to "minimize conflict of the three important, competing resources in the valley" will be aired tomorrow before county planning commissioners.

The valley's four gravel companies — Kaiser, Rhodes-Jamieson, Cal Rock and Lone Star — prepared the outline with the coordination of the valley Sand and Gravel Study Committee. The committee is composed of the two cities in the valley, the county, Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and the gravel companies.

The four firms have hired ENVIRON, an East Bay firm of consulting engineers to prepare the comprehensive plan to "resolve ultimate land uses for the extraction areas and serve to satisfy new state law requirements that reclamation plans be approved for new or continuing surface mining operations."

The project will correlate data from Zone 7, the State Department of Water Resources, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Regional Water Quality Control Board, U.S. Geological Survey, U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, the county planning department, cities of Livermore and Pleasanton, the East Bay Regional Park District and the Livermore Area Park and Recreation District, various regional agencies and the quarry operators.

Dublin sports hub tops VCSD agenda

DUBLIN — Plans for first phase development of the Dublin Sports Grounds tops the short agenda before the Valley Community Services District Board of Directors Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., 7051 Dublin Blvd.

Twenty sets of documents on plans and specifications for the Dublin sports facility have been furnished to the directors and the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Parks and Recreation.

The directors will act on a recommendation by General Manager Paul Ryan that the Board's park and recreation committee meet with VCSD staff.

Tragic crash ends wedding

A 45-year-old San Ramon man remains in critical condition as the result of an accident on Interstate 680 Thursday afternoon which claimed the life of a 19-year-old Pleasanton woman.

Susan Eileen Hahn of 5327 Springdale Drive was on her way to Walnut Creek to pick out bridesmaids dresses for upcominp August wedding. Suddenly, George T. Chatterton's car reportedly jumped the median strip, clipped an oncoming truck and crashed into Susan's Volkswagon and a tanker truck containing 6,000 gallons of highly-volatile methanol alcohol.

Susan was trapped inside the burning car and died before she could be freed. Fireman cut through the wreckage and pulled Chatterton free. He was taken to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek with massive chest injuries.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze but traffic didn't start rolling smoothly until after 7:30 p.m. that night. Susan graduated at Dublin High School in 1974 after two years as a cheerleader. She worked at Amfac Corp. in Dublin as a secretary at the time of her death.

Susan planned to marry Jerry Stone, a young Dublin man working at K-Mart, in August.

Robert J. Schmid, 56, of Concord, the driver of the tanker truck, escaped with minor injuries. The driver of the truck that was first clipped, Kent Howard Sliger, 19, of San Jose, reportedly had no injuries.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident is still under investigation.

County fair staff to handle own public relations

The Alameda County Fair Association has established a new, in-house type of publicity setup.

Under the new plan accepted by Fair directors, assistant manager Pete Bailey would be responsible for advertising and promoting interim event facilities, as well as producing a quarterly bulletin ostensibly for cities, chambers, service clubs and the news media.

Marilyn Frasier of Livermore, who has worked part-time for the Fair Association the last eight years, would serve as commercial sales representative and commence duties on a non-permanent basis about April 1.

Lee Hall, secretary-manager, said it may be necessary to bring in a part-time public relations person, possibly a college journalism student, to help out in May and June each year.

Bailey's son, Mike, an Amador Valley High graduate and now a student at Stanford, was hired as photographer to work for a period of five or six weeks during the summer at a rate of $1,200. The sum will include necessary photo and darkroom supplies.

The Fair Association publicity budget is $50,600.

Hall also suggested that newspaper ads be taken out extolling the Fairgrounds as a total recreation and convention facility.

In other actions, the directors approved the period of July 2-4 as prime Bicentennial salute days. It was recommended that the theater walk be dubbed "Bicentennial Plaza."

Hall is working on a Bicentennial pageant for July 4 in the grandstand area. A festival, heritage or horizons designation for various areas on the Fairgrounds was also proposed.

George Jacopetti, chairman of the finance committee, said gas and electricity rates have doubled.

The barn rental report, for the year 1975, shows the Fair Association had an income of $167,199, operational expenses of $121,333, for a gross difference of $45,865. A total of $199,160 went to capital expenditures.

For the month of December, of the 684 stalls, 115 were used as feed rooms and 439 were rented. Of 134 tack rooms, 104 were rented.

Hall also reported that there is a rumor the quarter horse association will propose a set purse for all races involving quarter horses. Hall believes this could present a problem to fairs.

The directors approved payment of $100 to the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, $2,000 to Western Fairs Association and $7 to American Rabbit Breeders for 1976 dues and fees.

Dorothy Bronner, a secretary at the Fairgrounds the past 9½ years, will retire Feb. 15. An appreciation dinner is scheduled March 5.

A retirement dinner will be held Jan. 31 at the Hyatt on Hegenberger Road for Gladys Boone, long-time director of the 4-H department.

Hall was selected by directors to seek the director's position open on the Western Fairs Association board. The WFA convention will be held in San Diego. Ralph Hinds of the Fresno fair will become WFA president.

It was noted that Larry Gately of the Contra Costa County Fair Association would also be pushed for a director's position.

Concessions and buildings and grounds committee meetings are scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 21. — by Al Fischer

Joint Monday meet

City examines future

PLEASANTON — The city council and planning commission will look at the city's projected development over the next 20 years and beyond at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the justice court.

The joint meeting will hear a presentation from the staff about the proposed environmental element of the general plan and also look at a special development program suggested as a supplement to the general plan.

The environmental element satisfies the state's requirement for an environmental impact report on the general plan, said Planning Director Robert Harris. Normally one might expect an environmental impact report to be submitted to the state prior to submission of the general plan, but Pleasanton was under the gun with state-mandated deadlines on the other general plan elements so they came first, said Harris.

In addition, it made more sense to do the economic analysis of various population levels and growth rates before investing time, money and energy in environmental impact reports which probably would have been rewritten extensively, he said.

The environmental element will have two tracks running through it: a 48,000 population level in 1996, as mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency, and a 76,000 population level which was recommended by the general plan review committee and adopted by the city council.

At points along the way in the environmental element, there are also interjections about a third alternative: no growth.

The population limits are the reason for the growth control program proposed in the special supplement. Since the city will fill up its remaining open space slowly, there must be some rational plan developed to do it, said Harris.

"We want to prevent leapfrogging of development. We have drawn a line around some areas of the city. Beyond that line, no property can expect to, develop before 1996," said Harris.

The development which does occur in the next 20 years will be competing for a limited number of sewer connections, so the city will have to develop a system of rating new developments based on their overall benefit to the community, said Harris.

The economic analysis in the general plan shows the city needs at least $20 to $30 million worth of capital improvements today and $60 million by 1996, said Harris. Stoneridge Center won't make a big difference with such a huge need in capital improvements, said the planning director. It would take a tremendous amount of industrial and commercial development to overcome the deficit.

Planners OK preserve status on Buti land

PLEASANTON — The planning commission recommended that 32 acres southwest of Mirador Drive and Neal Street be put in an agricultural district last week.

The recommendation met with full accord from one of the property's owner's, Bruno Buti. He and his partners were caught in the sewer freeze and realize nothing can be developed for a long time, so he had no objections to the agricultural zoning.

"We want to go on record that we intend to develop the property. We want to get our money out of it," said Buti. "We plan to develop it in 8,000 to 10,000 square foot lots. Don't shut the door on us."

Complimenting Buti on his cooperative attitude, Chairman Walt Wood said: "I wish other developers would have the attitude you have."

On another item, commissioners decided unanimously that the old pitch and putt course at Castlewood is too steep for a proposed development of 20 homes.

The area is outside the city, but the commission was asked for its opinion by the Alameda County Planning Department. The grades run 15 to 25 percent on the proposed roads and an earthquake slide zone exists nearby, said commissioners.

On another item, the commissioners unanimously approved Michael Roberts request for a home occupation permit to operate a janitorial operation out of his condominium unit in Laguna Vista Estates.

Roberts said he will store all of his equipment in his truck or his apartment closet and won't have any deliveries of equipment to his home.

Officials of the Laguna Estates Homeowners Association asked denial of the permit. The association's by-laws prohibit home occupations in the tract. Commissioners said the association's by-laws are a separate matter, although Wood and Commissioner Howard Garrigan said that as private citizens they sympathize with the association officers.

Know thyself: Key to weight loss

By PAT KENNEDY

Do you munch while watching TV? Gobble your food and feel stuffed and guilty later on? Eat to relax?

Those bad eating habits may be piling on the extra pounds. Also responsible for those not-so-cute "love handles" around the middle may be ignorance of your own nutritional needs.

A young dietician whose trim figure advertises her command over her own eating habits, Carol Garberson, plans to launch a series of classes to train overeaters in a healthier pattern.

She'll have each participant list not only what foods they eat each day and how many calories they have, but what kind of mood the participant was in while eating; whether the person was sitting, standing, lying down or on the run; whether the food was eaten with family, a group or alone in the kitchen.

"That will give you an idea of the eating patterns you need to break," Mrs. Garberson observes. "The idea of the program is to change bad eating habits, not just to lose weight."

The 10-week course, "Weight Reduction through Planned Nutrition," consists of a 90-minute class once a week for 10 weeks. Cost is $25 and the registration deadline is Monday, Jan. 26. Participants can choose from four class times and places:

Livermore: Wednesdays, 9:30-11 a.m., Vinwood Lodge, formerly the Crestwood Lodge, 35 Fenton St. Pleasanton: Medical Center, 2324 Santa Rita Road, 7:30-9 p.m. Thursdays. San Ramon: Family Medical Center, 9260 Alcosta Blvd., Wednesdays, 2-3:30 p.m., Thursdays, 9:30-11 a.m.

Mrs. Garberson, who is in private practice as a dietician, holds a bachelor's degree in dietetics from UC Berkeley and has completed a one-year dietetics internship at Highland Hospital, Oakland.

Her classes will tackle both behavior and nutrition. For example, participants will be told HOW to eat to feel more satisfied with less.

"Make eating a pure experience," is one suggestion she has. "Don't munch while watching TV or having an argument or washing the dishes. Sit down at the table and pay attention."

Another technique weight-watchers will be expected to practice: "Put your fork down after each bite. In the middle of the meal, stop eating for 30 seconds. This will give your blood sugar time to catch up with the amount you've eaten and signal to your brain when you've had enough."

lifestyle

For those who compulsively clean their plates, she suggests leaving a token amount of food on the plate at each meal. That way, she says, the overeater gets used to responding when hunger is satisfied, not when the plate is empty.

And now, for a gimmick: Wear an elastic band around your wrist, she suggests. If you get hungry between meals, snap it. The nasty feeling will take your mind off your hunger.

Changing bad eating patterns is a much more effective way of remaining permanently healthy, says Mrs. Garberson, than just going on a good diet and later putting the pounds back on.

In fact, a recent study showed the "behavior modification" approach has a 33⅓ per cent success rate — that is, fully one-third of the obese people who try the plan not only lose weight but keep it off for years or permanently.

On the other hand, most diets have about an 8 per cent success rate.

And being overweight is more than not being able to wear bikinis. "Obesity," warns Mrs. Garberson, "can cause problems with your skin, hormones, joints and bones, anxiety, high blood pressure and increased risk in surgery."

Need an elastic band?

Quick culinary calorie-savers

In keeping with principles of weight control, here are a few culinary techniques that can be applied daily, regardless of what you are cooking.

Meats — Broil or bake chops, steaks and poultry rather than frying them in oil. Much of the fat in the meat drains off during the broiling process and no new fat is added.

Poultry — When cooking poultry, especially chicken, remove and discard the skin before cooking. The chicken will lose none of its flavor and the skin that you have thrown away contains no nutrients at all — only fats.

Soups, stews or casseroles — When preparing these dishes that call for fatty meats or poultry, make them a day in advance, then cool in the refrigerator overnight. In the morning, the excess fat will be congealed on the surface and may be removed easily. An additional bonus: With nearly all dishes of this kind, you will find that the flavor has actually improved overnight.

Eggs — High in cholesterol, but also comprising the most perfect protein source and a boon to budgeters, eggs may be scrambled or fried in nonstick pans or double boilers without oil or butter. To stretch eggs, stir in a few teaspoons of cottage cheese or yogurt when scrambling them.

Fresh vegetables — When steamed in broth instead of water, vegetables rarely need that extra dab of butter. They will be tasty enough "plain." Always cook vegetables in the least amount of liquid necessary to tenderize them.

Crisp salad greens — These are a dieter's dream, but avoid quadrupling the calories by drenching the salad green with rich, creamy dressings. Jellied beef broth and a hint of lemon makes an excellent low-calorie salad dressing.

LILLY AULT

If the Pleasanton Bicentennial Ball is any indication as to what we can expect in the 200-year celebration of our country's founding — it's going to be a joyful, booming success and lots of fun!

The evening which started at 9 p.m. and ended at 1 a.m. dancing wise, was a happy occasion, all those in attendance seemed to agree — 1975 was a bad year, but what the heck — chalk it up and on to bigger and better things — even if it's just having a good time. And that is what everyone seemed to have done New Year's Eve!!

Before this year is over, we will all probably be "bicentennialed" to death, what with bicentennial this, bicentennial that over and over again! Whatever, let's hope success of the celebration will be measured by the enjoyment had rather than on the almighty dollar made. Perhaps this is where we may have lost some of "the good old times," we concentrate too much on the materialist aspect of things rather than fun.

"Fun" shouldn't be labeled with a price tag. Think! Some of the most enjoyable times had are those events with no "admittance" cost.

Raising money, for this or that is great! However if the approach were concentrated more on "let's have fun" the benefits might be greater. If the anticipated "benefits" are not raised, but those in attendance had a great time — that's success.

This brings to mind the Mardi Gras. We happen to be in a position where we attend many of the functions just for fun. And that we somehow manage to do. I recall on a function we attended where the turn-out wasn't as great as anticipated. However everyone there had an exceptionally good time — including us. The music, food and entertainment were great.

Those "emotionally" involved felt the event wasn't a success because of the amount of money raised. We couldn't have disagreed more! When anyone can put on something, particularly nowadays just for pure entertainment — they have succeeded in the most important, factor of life — making someone happy!

As we enter another Mardi Gras season, let's hope each candidate will try to let that be their main achievement — seeing people enjoying themselves.

Circumstances this year will prevent me from attending those many functions I dearly enjoy. By the time you read this I'll be well on the road to recovery from necessary surgery. Jean McKenna and Reina Whitney will be happy to take care of any news coverage for you, just give them a call.

In the past as participants of Mardi Gras events, the "Ball" becomes a "crucial" time for us. Some of the candidates we have known, enjoyed and loved. Others we get to know, enjoy amd love. Therefore on the big night, we share the joy of the winners and the disappointment of those who didn't become "king" or "queen."

To us, none are losers, they are a unique, fantastic breed who subject themselves voluntarily to much hard work for us ... the community!

God bless every one of them for their unselfishness, hard work and devotion to their community that we may all benefit.

That's what Mardi Gras is all about. Much success to each candidate; join in the fun and happy Mardi Gras to all!!

Assemblyman Floyd Mori

Solon spurs school talks

A statewide property tax to aid schools and its implications on teacher salary schedules keynoted the initial discussion of an educational advisory committee meeting Thursday night and organized by Assemblyman S. Floyd Mori.

The committee is composed of five parents, four school board members, five teachers, six administrators and two high school students. Thursday's inaugural meeting was held at the Pleasanton Library.

In a handout to members attending Thursday, Mori noted the purpose in bringing such individuals together "is to provide a means of enabling direct community input into the legislative process.

"I feel that there is a lot to be gained by working closely with a committee such as this. I will be reporting on legislation which comes before the Education Committee, as well as attitudes and positions held by my colleagues in the Legislature. I hope to receive committee feedback on proposed measures and clarification of the communities' views on how effective those measures may or may not be."

Mori also said he is arranging for speakers and special presentations and has a commitment from State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson C. Riles to attend one of the future meetings. "The kinds of issues and the directions the committee takes will be up to the members and can include many activities. Anything is possible and we may even find ourselves putting together the framework for future legislation."

Subjects discussed, in addition to school finances and the Serrano Priest decision, were adult education, bilingual education, collective bargaining and higher education, categorical aid programs, reform in secondary education and post-secondary education alternatives.

As regards Serrano - Priest, Mori said that all of last year's bills related to the legislation were dead. He opined that it might take another four or five years before legislation pertaining to the Serrano-Priest decision is shaped, approved and implemented.

The discussion on school finances pivoted on a statewide property tax and quickly embraced the prospect of teachers becoming state employees and having salary schedules set by the state.

Dr. Ted Woy, a Murray trustee, said such practices would virtually eliminate local school boards. "In effect, you'd have two bosses."

Dr. Bruce Newlin, superintendent of the Amador-Pleasanton school districts, said "I think it's inevitable that if you get to a statewide property tax you'll be looking at a statewide salary schedule."

Mori indicated he would voice this subject in Sacramento and see what kind of responses he gets.

Subjects that may be discussed at upcoming meetings include, 1) Validity of the present grading system and possible workable alternatives, 2) student motivation, 3) class size and teacher - student communication, 4) general education courses in college as opposed specific major courses, and 5) refinement of credentials programs for prospective teachers.

Members of the advisory committee include parents Brenda Nicholson, Gene Hinton, Gayle Malfatti, Lamyrl Sandholtz, and Myra Latkin; school board members Dr. Ted Woy, Dr., Dr. James McFarlane, Wallace Decker and Betty Nostrand; teachers Claudia Armstrong, Betty Kane, Don Rathjen, Gary Fiorio and Chuck Hazen; administrators Ralph Laird, George Bury, Dr. Bruce Newlin, Dr. Donald Williams, Leo Croce and Vince Anaclerio; students Karen Knowles and Jim Cross.

Also, if you will be 18 years on or before the day of the election. You are qualified to vote but first must register.

Livermore residents may register at City Hall, 2250 First St., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; the Department of Motor Vehicles, 242 No. N St., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursday to 6:30 p.m., and Saturday, Jan. 31, from 8 a m. to 1 p.m.

In Pleasanton, citizens may register at City Hall, 200 Bernal Ave., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m to 5 p.m.; local fire stations in the evenings; State Assemblyman Floyd Mori's office, 1811 Santa Rita Road, Suite 228, weekdays from 9 a.m. to noon and 2 to 5 p m.; and the Alameda County Library, 4333 Black Ave., Monday through Thursday frm 12:30 to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The League of Women Voters will have booths in Pleasanton for registration the weekends of Jan. 24 and 25, and Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Safeway Store in the Amador Shopping Center on Santa Rita Road.

March 2 is the date for municipal elections (city council, ballot issues) in the Cities of Pleasanton and Livermore.

Voters affiliated with a political party may vote in the June 8 primaries for the office of President of the United States and — depending on which area of the valley you live — for the U.S. Congressional seat from the 7th District (now held by George Miller), 8th District (Ron Dellums), or 9th District (Pete Stark); U.S Senate (John Tunney's seat); State Senate, District 7 (the seat now held by John Nejedly), and State Assemply District 15 (Floyd Mori).

The elections on June 8 are for District 1 of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors (the seat now held by John Murphy); District 5 of the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors (Edmund Linscheid's seat); seats on the board of directors of Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, and the seat vacated by Judge William Gale's retirement from the Livermore-Pleasanton Municipal Court.

Gale's seat, however, may be filled prior to the election if Gov. Brown names a successor.

Reapportionment urged

SAN FRANCISCO — The Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board has endorsed an assembly bill that will double Alameda County's membership on the 18-member board.

Assemblyman Victor Calvo (D-Mountain View) would have the district apportioned by county population. Two representatives from each county currently sit on the board.

The legislation would give Alameda and Santa Clara Counties four members, Contra Costa, San Francisco and San Mateo Counties two members, and Marin, Napa, Solano and Sonoma Counties one representative. Membership hence would be increased to 24.

Board members still would be elected officials appointed by mayors and county supervisors.

Calvo asked the board Wednesday for its support.

Isabel extension spurred

PLEASANTON — The city council should encourage Alameda County and City of Livermore to extend Isabel Avenue from Stanley Boulevard to Interstate 580, Mayor Ed Kinney said Monday.

The council took no formal action, but Councilman William Herlihy agreed the Isbel Avenue extension would provide a partial solution to one of Pleasanton's problems, gravel trucks on First Street.

Some of the trucks haul gravel from Lone Star and Cal Rock to Interstate 580 via First Street and Interstate 680. The other two valley gravel companies don't have to take this circuitous route because they have access to El Charro Road, a street which the county promised in 1966 to complete to Stanley Boulevard.

If Isabel Avenue is extended, it would offer Cal Rock a shorter route to I-580. The new road would be 1.7 miles longer than the present northbound route for Lone Star, but there probably would be less traffic and this would save time for the gravel hauler.

But Isabel Avenue would cut First Street gravel traffic by only about 20 to 30 percent, and other solutions also must be pursued, said Herlihy. He did not suggest any specific ideas, but he wants time to study the long staff report on gravel trucks and discuss the matter at Feb. 23, the first chance the council will have on a busy schedule during the next few weeks.

Students to promote Americana

A total of 21 California high school students will be selected to serve as official Bicentennial Couriers in Europe, South America and the Far East next summer through an essay contest conducted by Youth For Understanding, an international teenage exchange program.

The Youth For Understanding "Bicentennial Courier" project has been selected as the international youth program by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Washington, D.C.

Cathy Rigby, the first American to win a medal in international gymnastic competition, is the national chairman for the Bicentennial Courier project. Miss Rigby has invited high school students between the ages of 15 and 18 to enter the essay competition which will be conducted in California and in 28 other states during the the school year.

The deadline for submitting essays is Feb. 1. The winners will be announced and then designated Bicentennial Couriers on April 1.

The couriers will be encouraged to speak to groups in their host countries about the Bicentennial celebration and about American life in general. They will carry Bicentennial greetings and invitations from local and state officials and organizations in the United States for presentation to local, provincial and national officials in the countries in which the courier will be living for two months.

Students are advised to contact their high school's social studies office for more information on the essay contest.

Special BART tax plan stirs talks

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Livermore BART Director Robert Allen's proposal to charge an "escalator tax" on commercial buildings benefiting most from the transit district would produce about one-fifth the money needed to balance the budget.

"It is difficult to see transit benefit charges as a major component of the BART deficit solution," general manager Frank Herringer told the director's special Ways and Means Committee Wednesday.

Allen has pushed for an "escalator tax," or "transit benefit charge" on high-rise buildings near BART stations. The Livermore director wants businesses to pay what he calls their "fair share" of the system's operating costs.

While Herringer warned directors that without financial aid from the State Legislature BART will run out of money sometime this year, he also is changing his position on state aid.

BART Directors have proposed making permanent the half-cent sales tax increment now charged in the three district counties.

But they also have proposed a permanent "in-lieu" vehicle registration fee for all transit agencies in Alameda, Contra Costa and San Francisco Counties.

"Are we gaining anything by being noble and saying 'Let's attack this as a regional problem?" Herringer asked rhetorically.

Acting on strategy advice from BART's newly hired lobbyists, Herringer told committee members the Legislature sees the lack of money for transit solely as BART's problem, not one of regional magnitude.

The district might make more points with the Legislature and stand a better chance of getting money by asking for a one-time vehicle registration fee and the permanent sales tax. Those suggestions offered last year in a broadside critique by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post.

"It would be simpler legislation," Herringer said, adding AC Transit and the San Francisco Municipal Railroad are financed adequately and might not support BART in a bid for the regional vehicle tax.

Santos Ranch gate pleases councilman

PLEASANTON — An Alameda County proposal to put a locked gate on Santos Ranch Road and abandon the county road was a nice belated Christmas present for Councilman Roger McLain.

McLain told the city council Monday that the county staff recommendation, still to be decided by county supervisors, "couldn't have been a happier Christmas present to me personally."

McLain wrote to the county a week before Christmas asking that the road be closed with a locked gate. He was prompted to do it after reading about a car collision involving a speeding car from the controversial road hitting a vehicle traveling on Foothill Road.

McLain asked the staff to send thanks to the county in anticipation of their expected approval of the locked gate for the road. Mayor Ed Kinney said there was "no disagreement by the city council. This is an example of the system working."

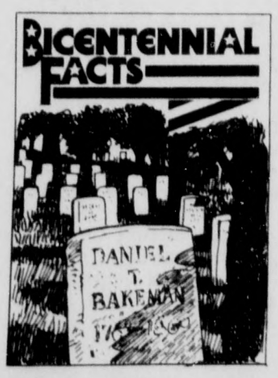
Surveyor sentenced in fatality

OAKLAND — A 44-year-old surveyor convicted of manslaughter in the March, 1975, auto death of a Pleasanton waitress has been placed on five years probation and sentenced to six months in the county jail.

George Henry Turner, a former Pleasanton surveyor, pleaded guilty to vehicular manslaughter in the death of Paula Howell, 18. His pickup truck smashed into Howell's car on Valley Avenue last Mar. 3.

Alameda County Superior Court Judge John S Cooper set the sentence A felony charge of drunken driving against Turner was dropped.



The Annual Report of the U.S. Commissioner of Pensions for 1874 notes that "With the death of Daniel T. Bakeman, of Freedom, Cattaraugas County, New York, April 5, 1869, the last of the pensioned soldiers of the Revolution passed away." The World Almanac notes that Bakeman is generally accepted as the last American veteran of the Revolutionary War.

PLEASANTON — A public hearing will be held Jan. 20 to receive public comments and suggestions on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Upper Alameda Creek Urban Study, 7:30 p.m., Alisal Elementary School, Pleasanton.

Comments received Tuesday night will be incorporated into the final Plan of Study (POS).

The study is sponsored by the Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District and will be conducted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The aim of the study is to develop a comprehensive water resources plan for the Upper Alameda Creek watershed.

The Corps proposes to study flood control, water supply, water quality, wastewater management, water-oriented recreation, and air quality.

The Citizens Advisory Committee to the study has forwarded its recommendation that recreational use of the arroyos be restricted.

The Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency also has relayed its request that the Corps not duplicate LAVWA's efforts in developing a wastewater management plan for the LAVWA service area.

LAVWA urged the Corps to clear up inconsistencies in land disposal of effluent policy.

LAVWA also disputed the Corps' projection that population in the valley by 1990 would be 170,000. LAVWA contended its prediction of 140,000 is more accurate.

Following the public hearing, the draft POS will be revised. The report then will be forwarded "through Corps of Engineers channels" for final approval.

Cofield wins highest honor

Officer Lonnie E. Cofield of the California Highway Patrol will receive the Certificate of Merit of the American National Red Cross Jan. 23 in Oakland at the meeting of the Oakland-South Alameda County Red Cross.

Officer Cofield, a Pleasanton resident, is in the Southern Alameda County Division of the CHP.

This certificate is the highest honor awarded by the American National Red Cross. It bears the signature of National Chairman Frank Stanton and Honorary Chairman Gerald Ford.

Officer Cofield was hailed by a passing motorist who was taking a patient to the hospital. The patient was a victim of emphysema and had ceased breathing.

Officer Cofield administered cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, radioed for an ambulance and got the victim to the hospital.

PLEASANTON — Two housing authority tenants will have seats on the housing authority board of directors soon.

The city council also is looking for someone to replace Commissioner Elizabeth Hall, who has served out the full two-term limit set by the city council. Anyone, including tenants, may apply for the position. Those interested should send a brief resume to the city manager, 200 Bernal Ave., before Feb. 16 or call 846-3202, ext. 211 for more information.

On sports

Hot off the wire

Mike Zampa

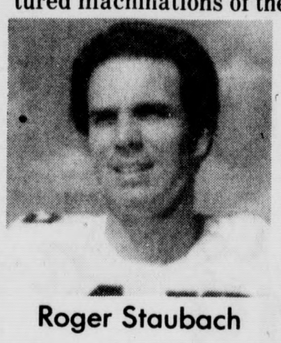
Every newspaper needs an Associated Press hookup, whether it is a vital cog of the daily additions or merely a supplementary tool as in the case of The Times.

More entertainment comes tap-dancing over the wire than in a whole season of television viewing.

It's good reading because the authors take great pains with their work. It is fed into that clanking, whirring machine in all seriousness. Of course it doesn't come out that way, which makes the wire machine such a joy.

A nation of aspiring Hemmingways and Lardners compiles the days events into a few sheets of streamlined prose and sends it rumbling into newsrooms coast-to-coast.

Assassination, government coups, stock market collapse — it's all boiled down and recreated on an endless sheet of paper spewed forth from the tortured machinations of the teletype.



Roger Staubach

Even photographs are transmitted by wire, and so too is sports news.

In that latter category, the wire machine is less an expeditor of game scores and coaches' quotes than it is a barometer, an indicator of who the hypes and flaks are, and just how strong their grip is on journalism.

The struggle to be firstest with the mostest is never ending. Sportswriters will grasp any shred of information and transform it. A catcher for the Podunk Penguins will moan in batting practice and headlines in Lompoc next day mourn his torn hamstring, or hangover or whatever else ails him.

Amidst the day's flood of news a torrent of useless detail washes over the wire .

It is a boggling tribute to the influence of image makers who plant the seeds of wasted prose in the mind of the reporter.

At no other time of year is the phenomenon more evident than Super Bowl time. An army of reporters is housed, fed and beveraged by Pete Rozelle for a week at the price of a few inane stories that the snow-bound editors back home will pick up Tuesday night.

The features are run through a meat grinder to extract some fragment of relevance. Before they are dispatched, an index is tapped out on the wire to warn the blurry-eyed editors. They rip off the sheet of forthcoming plums and stagger under the weight of proposed innocuousness.

As they ponder the list, the editors ply their craft, adding clever bits and pieces that could dress up a clunker story, if only they dare print it.

The game works something like this, based on actual index files from last week's AP production. The authentic transmissions are bold faced.

MIAMI — Pittsburgh linebackers admit they are powerless to stop Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach if he decides to run in the Super Bowl.

They should encourage him to run in the New Hampshire primary instead.

MIAMI — Super Bowl X will be last game played on Orange Bowl's tattered Polyturf surface.

It will be replaced in time for some important NFL exhibitions and a seventh-grade all star game next July.

MIAMI — Bobby Walden, Pittsburgh's punter, never gets his uniform dirty.

He carries economy in laundering to ridiculous extremes. As a child, refused to soil diapers.

ST. LOUIS — NCAA delegates meet to discuss more than 200 legislative proposals to be voted on Friday and Saturday.

They began with three million proposals, but figured in two days time that just the 200 really important ones should be decided.

HOUSTON — Chris Evert, AP Female Athlete of the Year, says she may make subtle changes in her career-long trademarks just for the excitement.

Jimmy Connors says he won't stand still for a sex-change operation, however.

PHOENIX — National League owners consider expansion plan for 1977 with Washington likely to return to major league baseball.

Gene says 49'ers might be improved with a new coach, however, and that he'll stay in the NFL.

All right so the editor who tampered with those releases wasn't so clever. The point is that the authentic story lines were zanier than anything you can fictionalize.

What's more, they carry no greater import. Never has so much verbiage contributed so little insight.

But soon the Super Bowl will be behind us. Perhaps in the near future Chrissie Evert will marry Connors. Conceivably the NCAA could get bogged down in its legislative function and vote itself out of office.

Then a lot of meaningless stuff can be erased from those singing news wires.

And be replaced with good stuff. Like the 18-year old shortstop who's taught to chew tobacco by a grizzled veteran in spring training.

Dons stun Granada

GRANADA STAR GOES FOR TWO-POINTER AGAINST DONS
Joey Wujek (32) goes for basket in Friday game

Before the advance sale of basketball playoff tickets gets under way at Amador Valley High School the Dons have got more games to win.

Even coach Skip Mohatt, who is still bubbling over a tense, 48-46 victory at Granada Friday night, will admit that. But there's no reasoning with Amador fans, who have lived through two consecutive championship seasons in the EBAL and forsee another this February.

They were convinced when the final buzzer blared Friday night, signifying Amador's fourth consecutive league victory after a miserable pre - season. The Dons remained alone atop the EBAL by virtue of their win. They dropped seventh-ranked Granada two games back in the standings.

"But it's a long year," Mohatt says. "We'll have to fight for everything we get."

Amador looks up to the task after surviving a helter - skelter fourth quarter against Granada. Behind most of the fame, the Dons lurched ahead by one point with 2:09 left when Rob Yackley canned a long jumper after intercepting a pass.

It would be more than two minutes before Amador would allow Granada to score again. Meanwhile, Jim Yackley connected on three free throws, Mike Hill snared two rebounds, and Amador ran a stall offense to perfection in dealing Granada its second loss in a week.

"That's probably the most poised final minute and a half of any team I've ever coached," said Mohatt, who found it hard to temper his elation. "The kids ran the freeze well, they shot free throws well and they played good defense. They were ready for this one, and they were confident."

EBAL Standings

	w	l	pct.	gb
Amador	4	0	1.000	—
Livermore	3	1	.750	1
San Ramon	3	1	.750	1
Granada	2	2	.500	2
Monte Vista	2	2	.500	2
Dublin	1	3	.250	3
California	1	3	.250	3
Foothill	0	4	.000	4

"Five of our first seven games are away," Mohatt points out, and our first three road games are against the teams who are supposed to give us the most trouble. With a young team that's slow in jelling, I would have settled for 3-1, and thought we were in a good position.

"They were loose tonight," Mohatt said. "They even had me loose. We felt we had to win the game of mistakes, that we had to make half as many as they did. Well, we had a two minute lapse before halftime, followed by a bad shooting third quarter. But the kids never lost their poise."

Remarkably, Amador turned the ball over only once in the second half. For the game the Dons had nine throw-aways, to 16 for Granada (note the 50 per cent reduction just as the coach had required).

Rob Yackley sparked Amador at both ends of the floor, scoring 19 points, and tying brother Jim and teammate Sam Jorgensen with nine rebounds. He also checked Granada's Joe Wujek on five points.

It was Rob at the end of the third quarter who banged in a trio of jumpers to shave three points from what had been a seven-point Granada bulge.

He scored four in the final eight minutes, including the critical jumper to put Amador in the lead for good.

Wood sparks Pokes

Livermore High used the magical touch of ace guard Ted Wood and a well-executed offense to roll over host Dublin 74-64 Friday night in a EBAL basketball game.

Wood canned 28 points and had 11 assists as Livermore never trailed in the contest. The Cowboys jumped off to a 17-12 lead in the first quarter and held at least that margin through the rest of the contest.

In the Cowboy dressing room Wood said he felt he had played better games.

"I felt I played better all-around against Granada," he said. "Actually tonight's win was a good team effort."

Apparently thats what Cowboy coach John Jones felt also.

"This was probably one of our best games this year," he emphasized. "I don't feel we suffered a letdown after our big win over Granada at all. We moved the ball well and played good all around."

Actually the Gaels did not play too bad either. Although they may have won just one game in league play they showed an ability to score from inside as center Cliff Johnson scored 17 points, mostly against the tough guarding of Cowboy center Curt Groth.

The closest the Gaels came to overcoming the steady Cowboy lead came early in the fourth quarter when they trailed 54-51 but Groth, Wood and forward Bob Frost hit key buckets to put the Cowboys out of reach.

Mustangs take thriller

Ron Low fired in 26 points to pace Monte Vista High to a thrilling 63-60 win over host California Friday night in EBAL basketball action.

The Mustangs scored 21 points in the first period to just 15 for the losers but some hot third quarter shooting by the Grizzlies gave them a 51-50 advantage. However, the Mustangs' rebounding and defensive play held the Grizzlies off and Monte Vista had its second victory of the EBAL season.

Kevin Jones added 14 points for Monte Vista while Byron Steward had 14 for California. The Mustangs outscored California 13-9 in the final stanza to pull off the victory.

Gymnasts stand out

Gymnasts from the East Bay Athletic League dominated the 1976 Northern California Compulsory Sub-Station meet at Granada High School yesterday.

Granada High School won the Beginners' team title with 84.05 points. Hayward was second with 77.90 points and Monte Vista third with 74.45. Amador was fifth with 71.94 points.

Wendy Willis of Granada was the individual champion with 29.25 points and teammate Toni Naberrette was second with 27.20.

In Open Intermediate competition Monte Vista was second. Noreen Doyas of Monte Vista was second with 28.00 points in the individual competiton.

SR dumps Foothill

Boasting an eminently venerable crisp 3-1 mark, the San Ramon High Wolves — having won but five of 29 East Bay Athletic league endeavors — made it three in a row, and four in five cracks, licking Pleasanton's Foothill high, 83-45 Friday night in Danville.

If coach John Clausen's lads keep up this 1969 trend — when Steve Saucy and Truett Welch combined their peerless touches to lead San Ramon to its second cage title in the school's longish history — the real McCoy will await the Wolves come Livermore, Amador Valley, and Monte Vista, three toughies in succession.

Midway through the final stanza, SR's second detachment mounted leads of up to 34 points, before Mark Hutchinson, who finished with eight markers, canned a 20-footer at the buzzer —

Fans cheer Gaels to key win

In a time when high school sports budgets are being cut and community support for prep sports is decreasing Dublin High School is a rare exception.

Well over a hundred Gael rooters traveled to Livermore yesterday to watch the Dublin soccer team take a hard fight 2-0 win over the host Cowboys. It was the Gaels' first-ever win over Livermore in EBAL play and more important, kept them in the title race with a 8-1-1 record.

"We won it for Dublin High and the community," a jubliant Gael coach Gene Cassvan said after the match. "We just decided to do the job. Everybody's morale was high and we did it."

Beside the enthuastic fan support on its side, Dublin also resorted to an outstanding defense to defeat the Cowboys. Livermore only had six shots on goal while the Gaels picked up 18. Dublin's offense also did an outstanding job, keeping the ball in Livermore territory most of the time to ease some of the pressure off Gael goalie Chris Cantalini. Cantalini only had five saves but was tough in the clutch as Livermore threatened several times in the first half.

Robin Sherwood scored the first Gael goal in the first half outstanding defenses.

However, midway through the second half the Gaels received a break when they were awarded a penalty kick and Dublin's Mike Laudenbach promptly booted the ball in for the second score. From then on the Gaels completely throttled the Livermore offense.

The Gaels ended with 18 shots on goal to just six for the Cowboys. Dublin had four corner kicks to two for Livermore.

Livermore coach Don Gabor felt his team lost because of "bad luck."

"We had two bad breaks and that's what they scored on," he said. On the first goal one of our men was out of posistion and they capitalized on it. The other time, of course they scored on the penalty kick."

In other EBAL matches Friday afternoon Amador hung on to first place with a thrilling 2-1 victory over Granada and Foothill edged San Ramon 1-0 for its first victory of the, EBAL campaign.

Granada opened the scoring against Amador when Shannon Estil scored on a penalty kick. However, the Dons came right back when Joe Correia followed in a missed penalty shot attempt from about 10 yards out. The Dons scored the winning goal in the second half when Casey Clark banged one in on a head shot.

The goal of the Foothill-San Ramon match was scored by the Falcons's Rick Henderson. Henderson scored the goal in the last 40 seconds of the match as Butch Hock picked up an assist.

Four-way tie in girls' cage

Upsets by Amador and Livermore girls basketball teams Thursday night really made a mess of the EBAL standings as Dublin, Granada, Livermore and Monte Vista, boasting 3-1 records, are now entangled in a four way tie for the top spot.

A fired-up Amador club, pulling everything together in the first period, posted an impressive 56-29 score to snap Granada's eight game winning streak while boosting its own record to 2-2.

Forced outside by a tough Amador defense, the Mats had trouble finding the basket and were outscored 34-15 in the first half.

Granada had been in the process of building a reputation as a team of rebounders, but the Dons' Carmen Macon and Jane Kuhns had ideas of spoiling it. Kuhns hauled down 15 rebounds while teammate Macon grabbed 14. Macon scored a career high of 21 points, while senior guard Jamie Watson poured in 16 points.

Livermore, starting out slow, rallied in the second half to nip a previously undefeated Dublin club, 41-39. The Cowboys, down 22-16 at the half, went on a scoring binge and held the Gaels to a mere two points in the first four minutes of the second half. Ann Wondolowski hit on two outside shots while teammate Peggy Baker added two more field goals to bring the Livermore club within two points. Patty Shirley squirmed in for two points to tie it up, 24-24, late in the third quarter. The teams battled to a 39-all tie with 2:20 left in the fourth quarter, then with 1:56 left on the clock, Shirley put up an inside shot to give Livermore the two point margin, while the tough Cowboy defense refused to give the Gaels a chance to tie it up.

Baker canned 17 points, while senior guard Wondolowski netted 12 for the winners.

San Ramon held off a last quarter Foothill rally to defeat the Falcons, 35-28. The Wolf club led 26-14 at the end of the third period, but were outscored in the last quarter 14-9 as the young Foothill team tried to pull off an upset. Mary Jo Melko hit three free throws in the final minutes to extinguish any Falcon hopes of a win. Melko scored 21 points, while Nancy Kerlinger and Lisa Stamp added five and four, respectively.

MV booters defeat Cal

DANVILLE — What do you, the scoffer, believe the odds of threshing Monte Vista High's soccer team on Danville sod.

Even? Two to one? 10 to one?

Try 100 to one.

"You know," reminiscenced Mustang Coach Alex La Beaux," I never thought about that. I know the home environment alway's helps, but we never practice up here," referring to the upper playing field.

Following the brief chat, La Beaux's lads proceeded to squash young California, 4-0 on a sunny afternoon yesterday here.

The match was originally to have been played a week ago, however, rains washed out the affair. By way of the win — Monte Vista is 4-4-1, and 6-6-1.

Setting up nearly effortless shots opposite Cal, 18 minutes into the encounter, Dean Kinnee centered a penalty kick to Mark Silva, who slapped it to Eric Bruce for a five yard go ahead and eventual deciding goal.

Minutes later, from 30 yards Kinnee turned around — saw no colleagues — and ripped the upper left corner of the nets with a blistering shot.

At this point it wasn't even a contest.

Bruce scored his second goal on a fast break, drawing out tender Mike Daugherty (who turned back 16 shots) and booting in a 15 yarder.

A few moments later afterward, Bon Turi followed up Bruce's example, accepting a pass from Eric before escaping Cals secondary and shooting in a seven yard goal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Go where the action is today, especially if you're invited to a large gathering. An interesting contact could be made.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally, Sunday is not the day to talk shop. However, something opportune may result from a conversation with associates today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You should be able to find enjoyment in almost anything you're involved in today, so long as you're active and on the go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may profit today from a confidential arrangement with loved ones. Let your heart direct you.

The public interest in a 'private' hospital

In the next two weeks between 2000 and 3000 members of a private corporation will be casting ballots for a board of directors charged with control of a facility of critical importance to almost 100,000 inhabitants of this Valley, and thousands more still to come. From San Ramon to Sunol, from Dublin Canyon to Altamont Pass, there is no item of greater public concern than the future role of this one privately-held institution.

Valley Memorial Hospital is "owned" by something less than 4000 members of that non-profit corporation. In three fund-raising drives which made that facility possible, those individuals, local firms and outside corporations, contributed very close to $1.8 million to that community effort. Together with memorial gifts and bequests, it brings VMH's donated support to $1,936,558. Federal and state grants (of public tax funds) have been slightly in excess of that amount.

Added to loans (paid back largely out of current income) it has meant something over $4 million available for capital investment in that Stanley Boulevard site — itself a donation from Kaiser Industries.

We recite all that here so there can be no doubt what was accomplished when these several communities got together, some 15 years ago, to meet their immediate and mutual medical needs.

But it is also important that the people know what has happened to these communities, and to that hospital, in the intervening years. Livermore more than doubled its population, Pleasanton increased its numbers seven-fold, and Dublin-San Ramon — little more than an agricultural expanse in 1960 — is today an urban hub for some 25,000 residents.

The 100.000 people of this "Valley" have one thing in common — they are served by Valley Memorial Hospital, and by no other acute care center within this 600-square-mile expanse. While few are "members" of the hospital corporation, over half that total Valley populace have used VMH services, and paid into that institution's $7 million-plus annual cash flow.

Viewed in that context, a "member" of the VMH Association who gained that right with a gift as little as $110, has no more claim to that institution than the thousands of "customers" who have paid dues of $100 a day, and more, for the privilege of using those facilities.

When it is also understood that VMH has — with state approval — laid exclusive claim to this 600-square-mile "service area," then the current balloting for that hospital board, and the "private" squabble over any future expansion of that facility, begin to shape up as the very public business of all 100,000 Valley citizens.

The 28,000 families within these several communities which are excluded from those elections might keep all this in mind as 1200 families conduct their private election, for a public institution that must serve us all.

JC's forever

Time was when they labored as the junior version of the Senior Chamber of Commerce. A sort of spawning ground for the elder statdsmen of business.

Now they are officially the "Jaycees," and needing no one's imprimatur. From an air show at the east end of the Valley, to parades and youth service programs at the west end of this busy basin, the Jaycees are a home-town nuclear reactor, bursting with energy.

An oldster is heard to remark, now and then, about "all that foolishness" the Jaycees are apt to get themselves involved in. True. But then again, having a good time while also serving your community has always been part of the JC creed.

So we will content ourselves, this week, with joining in a salute to the fun-loving, free-swinging, hard-working young men who make up that international organization.

And let us not forget the "Jaycee Wives" ... a title that suggests these young people also manage to preserve their love of home and family and marriage, even while doing their community-service thing.

Hikers, bikers

The finding by the State Parks and Recreation director on the subject of bicycling and hiking trails is of interest to this Valley.

What the state bureau learned — from a survey of local agencies and interested groups — was that "the greatest trail need" is one where cyclists can easily reach that route from their homes, use for a few hours, and then return that same day.

We suspect that same finding would come from any survey of our own biking and hiking enthusiasts. The few routes available between Livermore and Pleasanton, linking San Ramon to Dublin or reaching along the old roads to Sunol, are laden with a steady flow of cyclists on any sunny weekend, winter or summer.

There is a great deal of talk these days of "millions of dollars" to preserve this or that wilderness, or to utilize those famous ridge tops. Perhaps there should be a little more attention — at least on the local front — to improving the trail across town, providing access to Shadow Cliffs Park or Del Valle Lake or Sunol Regional Park, without the rider or hiker having to battle trucks and cars for safe traveling space.

Letters to the Times

A fine thing

To the — City of Livermore:

I wish to thank you for taking $6 more of my money for the priviledge of parking within a four block radius of my place of employment. It's not that I mind giving away my money, it's just that I would have preferred to give it to a more needy cause.

Not that the city isn't a needy cause; I'm sure that the city needs money desperately, perhaps to build more underpasses that tie up traffic, waste precious fuel, run small businesses out of buiness, and in general create havoc. Or perhaps they'll give my money to the beautification committee for more of those ridiculous mini-parks.

But don't worry about small downtown businessmen who have relatively no parking, not only for employes, but for customers as well. Of course, we could use the municipal parking lot in back of First Street, but you're very lucky if you can find a space ... Not to mention that I, as a young girl, getting off work at 5:30, would have to walk to my car through alleys, after dark. I absolutely refuse to do this so you can keep on giving me tickets and I will pay them, but you can bet your life that when election time comes around I will be very vocal.

BART's new politics

By Justin Roberts

Among the last acts of 1975 at the Bay Area Rapid Transit District was the cementing of the schism between two coalitions in the BART board of directors — with the split now virtually made a permanent one: "The Big City Boys" versus Suburbia.

This carefully contrived misalliance came as no coincidence, nor accident. It became apparent shortly after the present board of directors took office and it has manifestd itself frequently at subsequent board sessions. The curtain was raised on the election of Richard O. Clark to the presidency of the board in November, 1974. His vice president became Elmer Cooper of San Francisco.

The second act started last month when Cooper was elected president — despite the fact that Clark himself promised in November, 1974 to support Walnut Creek Director James Hill in '75 when directors chose a new chairman.

Cooper's selection for the presidency was not spontaneously voted by the majority of BART's board members. Instead, it came as the result of some months of conspiring with others among the "Big City Boys" for their nomination and support. The voting was a mere formality for the public.

Despite the fact that Cooper and Clark have been the subjects of sustained and comprehensive investigations by both Contra Costa's and Alameda County's grand juries, the possibility that the prospective new president of BART might be indicted — and convicted — didn't faze the members of Cooper's coalition.

With the sureness and arrogance of well-organized power, the five members of the coalition (including Cooper and Clark) voted him into the presidency.

Subsequently — just to make sure the coalition got its way with BART's affairs, Cooper named majorities of his cohorts to three of BART's four standing committees.

These include the administration committee headed by San Franciscan Ella Hill Hutch and including Clark and John Glenn of Fremont. Glenn is the only member not in the alliance of the "Big City Boys." His votes — should they differ from Hutch and Clark views will be overruled in committee voting and recommendations.

And so it goes with the BART board's engineering committee. Chairman is Harvey Glasser, a member of the Cooper combine, and the members are John Kirkwood of San Francisco also coupled to Cooper, and Robert Allen of Livermore — one of the members of the "Suburbia" coalition — and also facing the prospect of being out-voted when there's a controversial decision to be made.

The same power bloc was named to the public information and legislation committee. Clark heads it and the committee includes Hutch and Hill of Walnut Creek. Needless to say, Hill a member of the minority, will be outvoted.

The fourth and newest committee is ways and means — a body created in 1975 with the responsibility for appearing before the Legislature with acceptable plans for state-financing of BART's inevitable operating deficits.

Here the pattern changed. Instead of putting a majority of Cooper's coalition in control of that committee, the reverse occurred.

"Suburbia" coalition member John Glenn was appointed chairman by Cooper who also named minority members Hill and Allen — making them the committee majority, with Glasser and Kirkwood also serving.

How come? Particularly in a committee dealing with BART's life-blood — the needed state financing of the district to keep it from bankruptcy?

Cooper who had his election to the presidency rigged with his supporters long in advance of the actual election, and Clark who was pledged to support Hill, held the key to that mystery.

Not knowing there was someone within earshot — who was not a member of their coalition — they were overheard at BART headquarters by a reliable source during a conversation that included something like this:

"We'll fix those (expletive deleted). We can fix Allen, Glenn and Bianco (Director Nello Bianco of Richmond) by putting them on the ways and means committee. That way when we get (expletive deleted) in Sacramento, we can blame it on them."

The reference to Sacramento was the knowledge that legislators have been keeping a careful watch on BART — using their own sources of information as well as the optimistic official communiques from the board. The legislators don't like what they have seen and heard about the way BART's first elected board majority has been running things.

The little backroom conspiracy may save face for Cooper's cohorts — but it also raises the question, "Who will save BART?"

round the town

Whatever else, the lady at our house is the sensible type. No victim she to all those latter-day temptations.

"Nothing but a bunch of junk," I have heard her remark more than once in response to some sales pitch on the tube. Which is why this latest arrival came as quite a shock.

"What's in the package?" I asked, innocently.

"An early Valentine's Day gift for you," she replied, slyly. My husbandly instincts told me I had been took. But, as with all tookees, I went ahead and opened the blessed thing anyway.

"Must be some mistake," I announced, exposing the contents. "Looks for all the world like a clothes line with handles."

"It's the very latest thing," she says, brightly. "The Weider Body Shaper."

Now, the idea that the human form can be improved upon by stretching the muscles this way and that is not exactly new. The Egyptian slaves developed great back muscles, I am informed, from shoving all those stones to the tippy top of the pyramids.

Twentieth Century America is a mite short of pyramids. But there is no dirth in Pharaohs. Only they have switched from building pyramids to building sales' empires. Mr. Weider has come up with a better slave trap, and all America is beating a path to his store.

"I cannot believe you — YOU of all people — really bought one of these stupid things," I declared, angrily.

"There's supposed to be a book of instructions, somewhere there in the box," she announced, breezily.

"All I can find in here is the invoice ... WOW! You mean to say we're laying out $7.95 for this piece of rope?" I am dismayed. She is delighted.

"People everywhere are talking about these Body Builders. They say it slims your hips." I am not impressed. "Can help trim the weight." Still not convinced. "And some girls really develop large breasts from this exercise."

"How does it work?" I ask, deciding the blessed thing might as well be checked out, since we own it.

The book of instructions are explicit, with pictures. The female demonstrator doesn't look as though HER body needs improving. But I digress.

"First off we need a sturdy door handle," I announce, authoritatively. Given the age of our house, and the condition of our door handles, finding a sturdy one can be a challenge. We finally select a living room entry, close by the book case.

Once installed — after much fumbling about and just a touch of controversy — it remains only to test the blessed thing.

"I think if you place your head here, near the book case, and your feet out toward the red leather chair, it should work," she suggests.

"I was not aware I was to be the experimentee," says I. But I am so blessed involved in rope and handle straps, it seems logical I should go all the way.

"The rope is too short," I declare. "Can't reach the handle straps having once inserted feet in feet straps. The thing is defective, and should be returned at once."

"You have to REACH BACK," she advises, bending my limbs back to a position they have not known in two decades, or more.

"I think you just broke both my shoulders," I state.

"Don't be silly ... here ... put this hand in here, and this hand in HERE ... and now you're all set."

"I feel like the prisoner of Zenda," I conclude, "trussed up for the gallow's party."

By pulling the right arm downward, thus, the right foot flies up, THUS! One should also keep a firm hand hold on the rope, I discovered, too late, in order to keep the foot from returning to earth with a painful thud. Also, ample space should be allowed for all these movements.

"I think I just chipped my elbow," I announce, regretfully.

"Don't be silly," she says, "how could you chip your elbow on a piece of rope?"

"Wasn't the rope," I advise Ms. Courage, "it was the book case ... smacked my right elbow on the hard corner. Hurts like blazes."

Later, we learn of an identical exerciser model being advertised on television, for $3.99. Making the body beautiful is achieved only with considerable sacrifice, I conclude, thoughtfully.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Ray Bradbury, the poetic science fiction story teller who is writing for motion pictures and more sophisticated journals these days, once dreamed up the most monumental traffic jam man could imagine.

He laid the scene on what would currently be Interstate Highway 5 at about the place it passes the almost invisible village of San Onofre.

I have memories of San Onofre, but that is another story.

Bradbury launched his story with an accident which multiplied into figures which would stagger a ten digit computer.

Eventually the traffic jam extended from the Pacific Coast to New York City and the Oregon border, spread through the Rocky mountains and Midwest and eventually tied up every automobile in the United States.

Presumably only the Atlantic Ocean prevented the catastrophy from spreading to Europe.

I thought about that Bradbury story Thursday when the effects of the tragic accident which took the life of a Pleasanton girl began to spread.

Believe me, this newspaper could be easy to sabotage and the best way to do it would be to close off all communications with Walnut Creek.

Word of the accident reached us early. What followed was not exactly expected.

Four o'clock in the afternoon, some three hours after the original crackup, one Jim Coon was on the Hotline from Walnut Creek.

"Where are your early pages?" he demanded. Coon is a fine fellow but usually in a hurry. He never asks. A natural leader, he always demands. That is the way of leaders.

"They went up with the one o'clock runner," I replied.

"We don't have them," Coon accused.

Jim is a determined man. From the tone of his voice I understood that an H Bomb hitting Pleasanton would not be a satisfactory excuse for late pages.

The runner was on her way to Walnut Creek. She had started shortly after one p.m. and was still on the highway. A long time on the road for a journey of something less than 40 miles.

Thursday she might have done better on a Conestoga Wagon.

I called Walnut Creek and asked for my old buddy Mike DeCal of the Contra Costa Times staff.

"He's not here yet," I was told. "He's a little late."

Fenwick Addison Truebridge, our liaison man with Walnut Creek, stopped by the Pleasanton office.

"Take Bernal Avenue straight across to Foothill Road," I advised him. "It'll take you to the Old San Ramon Road and you can avoid that mess."

Truebridge followed instructions. He turned off Bernal Avenue to Foothill which becomes the old San Ramon Road north of Interstate 580.

So much for Truebridge. He did not surface for hours.

DeCal arrived in Walnut Creek and returned my telephone call.

"Sorry I was late," he said. "It took me two hours and 45 minutes to get to work."

Mike lives in San Ramon.

"You should have turned off on the old San Ramon Road," I told him. "That would have taken you around the trouble."

"That's what I did," he replied. "So did everybody else. The Highway patrol won't let anyone on 680. Danville is a pretty busy place."

As I said, so much for Truebridge.

I called Charlotte Wood School in Danville where Skeeter was about to head for home.

"I know something bad has happened," she said. "Some of the teachers were tangled in traffic on Hartz Avenue. They finally parked their cars and walked back to school."

A few moments later Walnut Creek called.

"You're five o'clock runner made it," I was told. "No one has seen the three or one p.m. people."

"How about Truebridge?" I inquired.

"No one has seen him."

As I said, so much for Truebridge. Someone walked into the office and said traffic was backed up to Walnut Creek on one side of the crash and to Foothill Boulevard on the other.

I remembered the Bradbury story and thought My God, it has finally happened.

And you know, some day I'll bet it will.
